Splunk Names Arrow Electronics Its 2016 “Worldwide Distribution Partner of the Year”

Centennial, Colo - 15 March 2016 – Arrow Electronics today announced it received the “Worldwide Distribution Partner of the Year” award for exceptional performance and commitment to Splunk’s Partner+ Programme.

“Congratulations to Arrow Electronics for being named Worldwide Distribution Partner of the Year,” said Dave Schwartz, area vice president, global strategic alliances, Splunk. “The Partner+ Programme promotes growth and allows our joint customers to achieve productivity, profitability, security and a competitive edge. The Global Partner Awards highlight outstanding partners like Arrow for their commitment to customer success and their close collaboration with Splunk.”

The Worldwide Distribution Partner of the Year award is given to a global Splunk® partner that has gone above and beyond in their commitment to Splunk and its partners with demonstrated value delivered. The award recognises exceptional delivery and support of value-added services that accelerate the success and growth of Arrow and Splunk’s mutual business partners, including sales support, quote-to-order management, marketing and technical support.

“Arrow Electronics is honoured to be recognised as Splunk’s 2016 Worldwide Distribution Partner of the Year,” said Sean Kerins, president of Arrow’s global enterprise computing solutions business. “Splunk has been a powerful addition to Arrow’s Big Data practice, and it’s been exciting to help Splunk, and the solution providers we support, capture this channel opportunity.”

Splunk Global Partner Awards reflect the top-performing partners globally within specific technology markets. All award recipients were selected by a group of Splunk executives and the global partner organisation.
